“ Betty was one of the first people to truly welcome me to Granite. I saw Betty often for several years & I always loved our chats. In the beginning of our friendship, she would also sometimes call me in the evening to talk, which made me feel honored to have earned her trust, & friendship in such a way. My time with Betty was very sparse for the past few years due to work, & other obligations & I will forever regret that I didn't see her more. She had a quick wit & could always make me laugh. Betty was one of the most genuine people I've ever known... If Betty had an opinion, you listened. If she liked you then she loved you, if she didn't like someone then they knew that too. You never had to guess with Betty. Her heart was huge & her spirit was strong. She survived & thrived through things that would have broken a lesser woman. My husband, Barton, always called her Momma Betty because during the many years he worked for the Perry family she became a second mother to him. He, very much, cherished Betty & also regrets the time he missed with her over the last couple of years. You'll be missed Betty, more than words can say.
