George was a taciturn man, saying little, but he had a big heart. His smile and laughter brought joy to everyone around him. In his last years he suffered greatly with diabetes and Parkinson's. Michael Patrick helped care for him and took him on numerous fishing expeditions. They didn't catch many, but that wasn't the point. George loved fishing and would have done it all day long if he could.

Georgie, you are missed by everyone. We hope you are somewhere on a lake, relaxed, and happy. Vaya Con Dios!
