Bud was a very nice person and a great cousin. He had a hard time with his father's tragic death, but rose up to the challenge. He lived just up the road from where his father was killed after dying 3 days later from an oil truck fire. I was there at the hospital with all of our family in support. Bud was devastated by his father's death, but courageously carried on. He was a determined, hard working man. Very sweet and gracious to all of us. I enjoyed having fish frys at his house where his mother got to meet her great grandchild. He is a hero to me. Very sweet and nice. If I had to marry a cousin like in the old days, it would be him. Dependable and strong. One of the good guys. We wish him well. A life well lived. Something we all hope for. Love, Biddie Ann Powell, daughter of B B McCarley, Bud's aunt.
