May 9, 1936 - June 19, 2024

Jack Owen Freeman passed from this life on Wednesday, June 19, 2024, in Moore, Oklahoma. He was born on May 9, 1936, in Hobart, Oklahoma, to Robert Freeman and Myrtle (Taylor) Freeman. Jack grew up learning to farm with his father in Hobart and was a Bearcat graduate. Jack married Dolores Ann Northcutt on June 7, 1958, in Hobart, Oklahoma. They relocated to Oklahoma City before buying land and building a home and life in Mustang, Oklahoma. There they lived and raised their family for 51 years. Jack served as a firefighter for Oklahoma City for 20 years. He cherished spending his days off tending to the family farm in Hobart with his father and his son. Jack had an inventing spirit, and often said he should have been an engineer. If Dolores had a problem with anything around the house, he could be found in his shop tinkering and inventing something to help her or something that could make even the most mundane tasks easier. He really enjoyed making boomerangs and walking sticks and showing them off to everyone. The Instructable website has a number of his inventions to view. When he wasn't out tinkering or working in the yard, he loved watching westerns, rodeos, and poker on TV. Jack was passionate about capturing memories and photos of the family. He attended each of his son, Jeffrey's Factory Stock car races and he would video record them all. Jack also really enjoyed sharing jokes and riddles with his daughter and grandchildren. Jack is survived by his daughter and son in law, Laura and John Seabourn; his grandchildren, Hayden Seabourn and wife, Skye; Jordan Seabourn; Fallon Moore and husband, Joshua; Kayla Cockerham and husband, Cory; Karley Callaway and husband, Sean; and Chandra Freeman; his great grandchildren, Jack, Calliope, and Wren Seabourn; Jayden, Brylee, and Jeffrey Cockerham, and Lisa Callaway.
